TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Thomas and Pit performed for us their “Metamagicum” show in early 2023 for our yearly event.

To say it was spectacular is an understatement. The show is particularly fitting for a tech savvy crowd. It combines comedy, science and magic in a unique way.

From the very moment the show began, one could see the attention to detail and professionalism - as every presentation, every trick and (almost) every joke was tailored to our audience. Even the crazy-looking funny inventions (e.g. iToaster or iBrainScanner) the show incorporates, were tailor made!

The performance kept our multi-cultural audience of over 200 people, captivated and engaged for the entire time with magic tricks, mind reading acts, illusions and altogether a “nerdy” comical atmosphere.

As an indication of the success of the event, the show was the only thing our analytical minded engineers talked about in the coffee corner during the following days.

If you are looking for a special show, that you can find nowhere else, I can't think of anything better.
